

GUZZLER

WHITE PAPER

Who are we

GZLR is the official creator of customizable and operable NFTs for your journey through the metaverse.

Opportunity

As the Metaverse begins to expand many openworld type universes will begin to take shape and interconnect. Rather than having these, sometimes open source, world projects focus on building vehicles I believe they should focus on building the world around us all.

This is where Guzzler comes in. We will be building operable and customizable NFTs to operate across openworlds, saving time and energy for these expanding worlds. If you want transportation ready and in your wallet for your cross world trips, make sure you have one of our custom nfts ready to go.

The beginning

While my vision for the future of the GZLR game is expansive; we will begin with a scalable token and MVP game in the form of a drag race. On the website you will be able to mint a car of your choice and then in the game you will be able customize your vehicle using the nfts you have selected. By doing this you will be able to create a unique car NFTs that is both unique only to you and operable within the game. Then to add fun... You'll be able to race against your friends and enemies.

The native token

$GZLR started as a custom erc20 contract creation with the main goals being safe, scaleable, unable to increase tax, and marketing tax received in eth to prevent sale pressure. It is a simple token but very efficient.

Our tokenomics regarding our tax system will remain flexible.

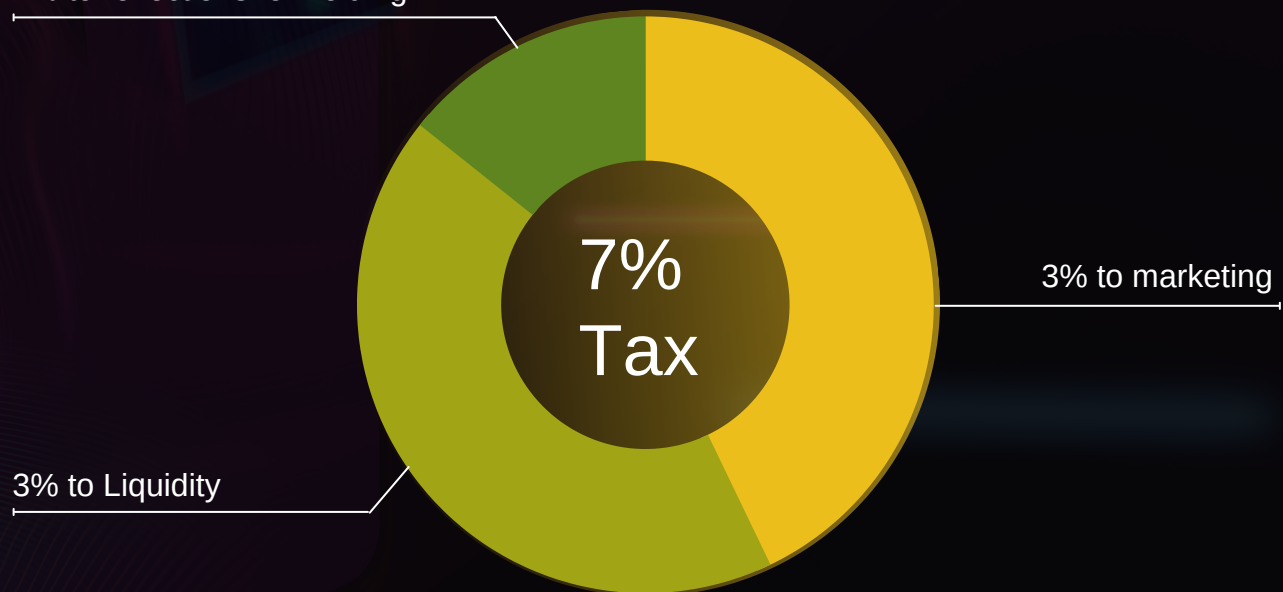

We will start with a 7% tax

3% to marketing

3% to Liquidity and

1% to reflections for holding.

1% to reflections for holding.

Rewards and Play to Earn

The $GZLR token will be able to be staked and rewards will come having access to exclusive nfts that will never be available to the public. This category of nft will also be available to people that try to complete the game in single player mode.

There are 3 ways to improve the performance characteristics of your NFTs

01

Stake $GZLR tokens and gain access to performance parts.

02

Beat levels in single player to unlock this same category of nfts.

03

Buy parts on the open market from people that have conquered the levels or from people/groups that have been staking $GZLR tokens for the rewards.

How to get the accessory and aesthetic category of NFTs

All these NFTs will be produced in-house and integrated into the game. With integrations come constant updates. These nfts will always be available first on our website at guzzler.io, and then on to be utilized or resold on the public/private market.

Eventually, as our open world expands people will be able to open “garages” or “dealerships” in-game. I expect that these people will be the first people to capitalize on our exclusive releases of nfts.

Exclusive NFTs releases will include

Cars

Wheels

Body accessories

Color modification

Livery skins

Our Passion for the Project

I've always loved cars. I've always loved building cars, working on cars. My partner Liquid Snake, has always loved cars too, and he has always loved games and building games.

Great combination. Although I'm unsure of the demographics as the metaverse evolves and expands, one thing can be sure, that the metaverse will evolve and expand. Blockchain technology will always be an integral part of this equation. And... Your avatar will want transportation, or you will be walking from planet to planet.

How I chose the name Guzzler

When you look on etherscan gas tracker you'll notice a list of top gas guzzlers. This list has been clogged by nft creation. We will be on that list.
