Rich Continents is a Metaverse cryptocurrency game that deals with a particular planet and the continents in it. It is possible to obtain NFT and earn RCNT tokens with many activities and systems that can be included in the game. It is possible to access the upcoming preview of the game and the promotional video about the game on RichContinents.online

Rich Continents was issued with Smart Chain BEP20 as Ricnatum token and RicnatumGame token. Their symbols are RCNT and RCNTG.

The Ricnatum token (RCNT), RicnatumGame token (RCNTG) and Rich Continents game project has been launched semi-centered in the Republic of Turkey and continues to work with its project partners.

Rich Continents, Ricnatum and RicnatumGame

The project is named after three special names, Rich Continents, Ricnatum and RicnatumGame.

Rich Continents is a name from the Metaverse universe that represents the project.

Ricnatum is the name of the currency that belongs to the Rich Continents universe and is used in the universe.

RicnatumGame is the name of the currency that belongs to the Rich Continents universe and is earned in the universe.

About Team

The Rich Continents project was created by 2 founding partners to be semi-centered in the Republic of Turkey. It is developed in cooperation with partners.

About Rich Continents Game

Rich Continents describes a planet in a different universe. The continents located in the Rich Continents planet are considered as an open source part of the Metaverse system.

With the interaction and the materials obtained, new continents and new regions can be discovered. Discovered materials or related products will have Ricnatum Token value. The share of Ricnatum allocated for the ecosystem has been determined for this.

Rich Continents Story

2270 - The population has decreased by 85 percent, the world is on the verge of destruction and is in danger of extinction. A handful of scientists trying to save the world have discovered a gateway to parallel universes.

They found a universe very similar to Earth, and sent a few volunteer travelers to research it to see if it was habitable.

The first team to go to this parallel world encountered something very interesting. This universe looked very much like their own world, but without any signs of life.

There was a society that existed before, but it was as if they had suddenly disappeared. Only wild animals survived.

Thereupon, the volunteer travel team began to wander this new planet every inch and look for signs of life.

After a while, they discovered a mine they called Ricnatum. They realized that this mineral formed the foundation stone of the planet.

With the energy provided by ricnatum, anything could be done.

With Ricnatum, they invented vehicles to speed up their travels. So they could travel faster. During their travels, they discovered many livable places, each more beautiful than the other.

They returned to their worlds and took the others to live in their new universe.

Some travelers became sedentary and domesticated many of the wild animals, making them loyal companions.

Today in this parallel universe there are 7 continents, many unexplored places and many untamed companions.

Some travelers, on the other hand, continued to mine Ricnatum, competing with each other in order to increase their wealth, reputation and have a say in the entire universe, starting from the planet.

In time, they realized that this race would not end, and by dividing the continents, they agreed among themselves and formed a federation.

From time to time, some new enterprising travelers continue their journeys, finding new mines, conquering new places, and trying to earn their share of the universe. Federation members also regularly send travelers a salary and occasional rewards in return for their hard work. This is how the story of the new travelers begins.
